ABOUT THE SINNEAVE FAMILY FOUNDATION

The Sinneave Family Foundation (Sinneave) is a Calgary based charitable operating foundation with national reach, dedicated to improving the transition to adulthood for individuals with autism. We believe that investment in the key life transition period between age 15 and 25 will improve the outcome trajectory for individuals with autism and their families. At Sinneave we work with individuals, families, communities and systems to improve outcomes in education, employment and independent living.

ALBERTA ELECTION 2019

Albertans will go to the polls on Tuesday, April 16, 2019. The days leading up to the election provide important opportunities to have meaningful conversations about government policies and programs that are important to you and your family.

If you or someone you know rely on social programs, an election cycle is a good time to share what you would like to see maintained, as well as what you would like to see changed.

➔ BE INFORMED

Sinneave has prepared three Policy Snapshots focused on neurodiversity (including autism) related to education, employment, and supported independent living. Please read through these Snapshots and, if they resonate with you, feel free to use them to support your conversations with friends, families and candidates.

➔ PRIORITIZE DISABILITY ISSUES

If you have an opportunity to talk with candidates or their representatives, find out if neurodiversity is a priority policy issue for them. The Policy Snapshots may be helpful to support the discussion.

➔ VOTE!

Vote for those representatives whose values most reflect your own.
